This qualification may give you the skills and training to understand the important role of workers in the community and/or residential setting. These workers follow an individualised plan to provide person-centered support to people who may require support due to aging, disability, or some other reason.

Work involves using discretion and judgment in relation to individual support as well as taking responsibility for our own outputs. Workers have a range of factual, technical, and procedural knowledge, as well as some theoretical knowledge of the concepts and practices required to provide person-centered support.
